MAY ESCAPE EVEN TRIAL

Motion to Discharge an Alleged Murderer.
Divorce, Etc.

There is a possibility that the alleged murderer may escape trial for the crime on a technicality. This turns on a phrase that has been commonly used in indictments which, after giving a name to the accused, describes him further as one "whose true name is to the grand jury unknown." Later, on this account, an indictment was quashed. Yesterday Judge De Bolt sustained a demurrer to the indictment of Takada, charged with murder in the first degree, on the same ground. A. Perry and H. G. Middleditch, counsel assigned for the defense, forthwith moved for the defendant's discharge.

After some argument Judge De Bolt reserved his ruling until 9 o'clock this morning, but Deputy Attorney General Peters desired to be heard further and, as he was going out of town, the motion was continued for argument until 9 o'clock Monday.

LAWYERS ARE EXPENSIVE. Sam Parker is the latest authority on this point. He was being cross-examined by Attorney Robertson while on the stand yesterday afternoon in the $50,000 libel suit Attorney Ballou has against him.

Mr. Parker was asked if getting legislation for a ditch franchise was not expensive. "Yes," was the reply, "and so are lawyers." Everybody laughed. The case will probably go to the jury early next week.

SHOCKING CRUELTY CHARGED.

Yin Kyau Ah Leong has brought a libel for divorce against Albert Ah Leong, alleging brutal violence. The libellee is charged with striking his wife in the face, flogging her with a horsewhip, kicking her in and about the ankles and legs with his shoes on, assaulting her with an open knife and threatening to shoot and kill her. When he struck her in the face she was nursing her infant child Marion, a girl aged nine months. The couple were married August 10, 1902. It is stated that libellee is a merchant worth in property and money five thousand dollars, and libellant being without means of support for herself and child prays that libellee be required to pay temporary alimony, costs and attorney's fee. Thompson & Clemons are her attorneys.

OTHER DIVORCE CASES.

Judge Lindsay yesterday signed a decree of divorce in favor of Lillian Birdie Brown against Edward M. Brown, which allows the libellant to resume her maiden name, viz., Lillian Birdie Hall. Libellee could not be found either by personal or published summons.

Livana Lupine has sued James Hayset for divorce on the ground of desertion since the year 1897. They were married in Honolulu on February 4, 1895. J. Alfred Magoon and J. Lightfoot are attorneys for libellant.

COURT NOTES.

High Sheriff Henry has returned as executed a writ of possession in favor of Oahu Railway & Land Co. against

"ODIOUS CLIQUE" ACTORS VIOLATED LICENSE LAW

Found Guilty by Police Judge Whitney Who "Roasts" Attorney Who Advised Them to Break Law.

The "Odious Clique" performance recently presented at the Japanese theater for the purpose of heaping insult and ridicule upon Consul General Saito got its promoters into trouble in the police court yesterday, for Police Judge Whitney found the actors who participated in it to be technically guilty of violating the law and fined each one $10 and costs.

The Judge arrived at a decision rather on the violation of Section 1402, which provides, with certain exceptions not pertinent to the present case, that all shows given must be licensed, and the High Sheriff having refused to issue a license for this particular performance, the parties presenting it were technically guilty. The fine imposed is the minimum, the judge disbelieving that the parties had maliciously proceeded to break the law, for it had been advertised as a free show. The fact, however, that admission fees were collected from those occupying the choice portion of the auditorium, indicated violation.

Judge Whitney paid his respects in a mild way to the attorney or attorneys who had advised the Japanese theatrical people to give the performance in the face of the High Sheriff's refusal to grant the license. After stating that the defendants were technically guilty and stating that there was no malicious intent on the part of the theatrical people to violate the law in regard to obtaining a license, he said:

"They acted under advice from one who certainly should be in better business than advising men to violate the law of the Territory."

The production of the play was the outcome of a movement among certain disaffected Japanese in Honolulu to bring ridicule upon the Consul General and endeavor to have him removed from office. After holding mass meetings at the theater, where professional orators declaimed against the Consul, accusing him of collusion in conjunction with the Kei Hin Bank to cheat Japanese immigrants, and thus agitating the Japanese during a time when the plantation laborers were somewhat restless over the Lahaina affair, it was decided to present a play wherein the Consul would be shown up to ridicule.

The promoters asked for a license and were refused by the High Sheriff. Their printed application for the license shows that they intended to make an attack on the Consul. Obtaining legal advice, from ex-Judge Gear, it is said, the promoters announced that they would put the show on the boards, free.

The initial performance was given to a crowded house. Any one was at liberty to enter, but it was noticed that the pit was reserved. According to the testimony, one had to pay a fee to sit in this section—25 cents, or smaller sum—and that over $20 was taken in by the promoters. Judge Whitney figured out that this meant at 25 cents a head 100 paid admissions, or if smaller sums were paid, then it would be double that number who paid to get in.

An appeal was noted by Henry Horgan, attorney for defendants.
